

SOCIETY

The men of the Delta Phi fraternity of Washburn college will give an informal party Saturday night at their new fraternity house. About thirty of the girl friends of the members will be their guests. Mr. George Banta of Chicago and Mr. Fred Cowles of Kansas City will be out-of-town guests. The Delta Phi men will have a smoker tonight at the fraternity house.

Miss Mary Moore will entertain the members of her bridge club at luncheon Saturday afternoon in compliment to Miss Isabel Smith, who is here for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blood Smith.

Mrs. E. S. Marshall will entertain the T. G. club and a few other guests next Wednesday at a 1 o'clock luncheon, followed by cards, at the Virginia.

The day pupils in the education department of Bethany college will give a play, "Miss Fearless & Company," at the college April 11. This is a comedy in three acts, and the parts will be taken by Miss Helen Lovise Crosby, Miss Madeline Mull, Miss Frances McClinch, Miss Mildred Morton, Miss Helen Greenwood, Miss Altha Watson, Miss Dorothy Wood, Miss Antoinette West, Miss Harriet Price and Miss Pauline Pettyjohn.

Frank K. Sanders gave a luncheon Thursday afternoon for Miss Mary Willard, a teacher of the academy, and her sister, Miss Willard of Galesburg, Ill., who spent her Easter vacation here. The other guests were Mrs. Charles M. Sheldon, Mrs. T. W. Todd, Mrs. Dana, Miss Mary Haight, Miss Mary Harrison, Miss Hyde, Miss Jessie Dean and Miss Gertrude Longdon.

We are told that a woman should never refer to her husband as Mr. Tootsie or Mr. Bowser, or whatever his name is, nor her daughter as Miss Mary or Miss Lucinda, except in speaking to servants. Instead, she should call her husband by his first name or she should say "my husband," and she should leave off the Miss when she talks about Mary and Lucy. Now, assuming that all women know this (and of course they do, since it is written down in the books on correct conduct and elegant speech), reflect how many times you have been treated as a servant by your peers, without ever realizing that you were being insulted.

Miss Lenora Monroe entertained a few guests this afternoon at an informal party for Miss Leah Roark, who has recently come to Topeka to live.

Was there ever such a colossal piece of foolishness as going to help at a church supper where some other woman does the cooking? A busy young woman was recently called upon to serve at a dinner which was attended by a larger crowd than the women in charge had prepared for. The table assigned to the "new hand," as she was called, was crowded and was provided with fewer waiters than the others. The raw recruit, being a stranger, was blamed for the delay in serving the guests, though she had fought for her turn in the kitchen, missed her dinner at home, and ate for her share what few scraps she could find remaining after the others had eaten. She overheard the remarks of the woman in charge that she was asked to help only as a last resort, and was plainly told that the delay was her fault. A man would probably say that this is a fair sample of a woman's sense of justice, but we would say that someone forgot that "you mustn't look a gift horse in the mouth."

EVENING CHAT

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"Good housekeepers are not good homemakers," said a prominent club woman in a lecture recently.

"The housekeeper's eternal war against dirt," she went on, "makes her a slave and makes martyrs of her family. She has an idea that when she dies St. Peter will ask her how many pairs of socks she has mended or how many buttons she has sewed on. She does not know that it is better to be cheerful and sympathetic, the comforting homemaker, than to have kept the house in such immaculate order."

I think that that is a very good reminder of this time of year.
For this is the time when the "eternal war against dirt" is apt to be waged most hotly and the martyrdom of the rest of the family to be correspondingly severe.

Now a perfectly immaculate house is a desirable thing to be sure. Do not think I am denying that. But when any other beautiful and desirable thing, a gown, a trip, a piece of jewelry—costs too much, you would think yourself weak if you did not have the strength of mind to turn your back on it, wouldn't you?

Now a perfectly immaculate house costs so much mental and physical strength that you cannot be yourself for weeks, is it any less a weakness not to be able to deny yourself that luxury?

In a story in a recent issue of a well known magazine a man and a woman are having a discussion about another woman who "works herself to a frazzle trying to make things nice for her husband" while her husband "doesn't seem to appreciate it a bit."

One of the marks of his lack of appreciation is that he seldom spends his evenings with her.
The man who is discussing the matter suggests that perhaps this immaculate housewife is too tired to make a very restful companion for a man who has worked hard all day.

"But she gets tired saving for him," flashes back the woman who is discussing the matter.
The Busy Man let his paper drop and put the tips of his fingers together as

To the Men and Women of Topeka:

The time for extended argument is past. The chief issue in the present campaign is the apparently irrepressible issue of "law and order." At this critical time in the municipal history of Topeka I respectfully solicit the votes and the active support of all who believe the greatest, most vital, issue in this campaign is the moral issue. For the rest, I stand upon what I believe during the past three years. I do not claim that I have made no mistakes. The man who makes no mistakes is the man who never does anything. But I do claim with pride and confidence that the administration of the city's affairs during the past three years has been clear, honest, economical, progressive. I frankly and earnestly desire to fill out the two year term for which I was elected a year ago.

Very respectfully,
WILLIAM GREEN.

he always did when tackling a legal problem at the office.

"Oh, that's just it," he said speculatively, "does he?"
For a moment the sheer audacity of it silenced the wife, but the "Of course she does" was emphatic when it came.

"Perhaps he'd rather have other outward and visible signs of her inward and spiritual grace. It may be, you know, that he isn't really keen about perfect housekeeping."

"In moderation, my dear, in moderation. There's a type of women with whom perfect housekeeping is not a self-sacrifice, but self-indulgence. The rest of the family are the sacrifice."

I think that's a marvelously good analysis of the case. I take off my hat to the "Busy Man."

If a poll of all the men in the land could be taken on the question, "Which would you rather have, a perfectly immaculate housewife with a tired-out, nervous wife within it, or a normal, well-balanced, restful wife in a comparatively clean house?" I have an idea that the result would be a unanimous vote on one side.

But I'll leave you to guess which. So when you sally forth with mop, pan and dust pan and broom to make all the other impedimenta of war this spring, suppose you take along with you mentally the motto that helped to make the Athenians the Great People they were.

"Nothing in excess."
And suppose you apply it to cleanliness.

SUES WIFE'S KIN.

Indian Husband Charges Alienation of Affections.

Muskogee, Okla., April 1.—Charging that his wife's relatives induced her to leave him, John Zufall, a wealthy young Cherokee Indian, yesterday filed a suit here against C. B. McCluskey, a Kansas City banker, the girl's father; S. B. McCluskey, the girl's uncle; and Adolph Hill, also an uncle, of Ardmore, Okla., asking $25,000 damages.

C. B. McCluskey was formerly president of the Oklahoma State bank of Muskogee. In Muskogee Zufall met the banker's daughter and they fell in love with each other.

The girl's parents objected to the Indian's attentions towards her and sent her to Belmont college at Nashville, Tenn. Zufall followed the girl to Nashville and last November they were married secretly.

One month later Mrs. Zufall's mother became ill and the girl returned home. She never rejoined her husband and the Indian holds her family responsible for her alienation from him.
